It took me a while to figure out what is going on here. There's been a lot of start & go and clashing of personalities. I'm just as frustrated as all of you.

Eight years ago, I was informed that I had been targeted by a malicious troll group and a group of hacktavists wished to help me. They said that several social groups would be interacting with me over the years and I would be able to identify them by certain catch phrases.

Unfortunately, everyone involved with this campaign was fed different information. We were each given certain questions and responses to identify one another, except that it is all wrong. Instead of building trust, this entire campaign was meant to sow discord and break trust - This is why all of this makes no sense and why it seems that information is being withheld. Everyone thinks something different is going on.

In short, we were all set up to look like giant jerks to one another so that no one would effectively communicate. To the people who think that I am in trouble, overly traumatized, a giant jerk or whatever.... I thought the same about you until the little lightbulb went off above my head: We were all played against one another. But it wasn't ill-intentioned, and this entire campaign was meant to encourage conversations. There were ridiculous storylines that were funny at the time. Unfortunately, QAnon happened in the duration. Now it appears that there are subsets who believe the storylines are true.

The Gamemaster needs to step in because this has gotten out of control.

However, the person helping me said there is someone in particular who was setting me up for failure. This person believes that I am a "ditzzy blonde cheerleader" when I cannot even do a cartwheel, have severe stagefright, and was so unattractive growing up that I went to eight different schools due to bullying and dropped out the last semester before graduating high school. Developing generalized anxiety as a kid was not fun.

There is another person who said they wished to "traumatize the living shit out of her" in reference to me. I will not go into details, but there have been some rough times over the years associated with this.

There are people who scraped data about my internet history. Unbeknownst to them, I used to infiltrate more extreme boards and befriend people in hopes of bringing them back to the light. I would post on other people's behalf - some of it was pretty bad and they were scared they would be judged. Unfortunately, it appears that this content was attributed to me because I would not reveal my sources. And, yes, it was a well-intentioned thing to do, but very stupid as much of the content was incredibly traumatizing to read.

The last I saw anything about this was eight years ago. I am uncertain if anyone else has been aware for that long or if any of the groups have been in communication. It was mentioned that this campaign would possibly be passed onto other people to run, so it's possible that no one has any idea of the background.

I do not even know about the full background, but I know some. There is someone I met outside last night in the rain that I've been waiting to meet since I was told about them. I thought I gave the right responses to your questions, but I'm realizing you weren't informed of those answers. My answers to your questions were meant to be distinctive and absurd, so you would know it's me, not because I believe them. There was an intermediary or several intermediaries between us eight years ago. They were very scared of being blamed if this wasn't successful - none of this is anyone's fault. Things went sideways; it happens. We need to talk and you were seriously rocking that sweatsuit. I would have worn my sweatsuit if I had known that was the dress code. Actually have several.
