I was think about the pirate flag, gme and ships. I think we're building our ship and about to embark on our maiden voyage.

Our ship has to be stand alone before we set sail, we can't set sail if we arent self sufficient.

I think this means we need to delist from nyse. Either relisting on a different exchange or more likely blockchian replacement.

Now we're ready to set sail but what do pirates do?

They search for high value targets and a hostile take over takes place.

Once we have control of our new vessel and addition to our fleet we cast overboard anyone that dosent join us. The captain walks the plank whatever.

Now we have 2 vessels we now have a substantial boarding force for the next takeover and a more wider variety of tactics.

We repeat this seeking vessels of value and leaving smaller ships to crash in the storms. When we finish our fleet will controll the seas and a marine nation spanning the globe is born.

God bless gmerica!

Now realise our ship is a space ship and we are setting off to Uranus via the moon as the first step in our voyage.

Gmerica will span the globe, universe and infinite realities.
