And I'm not even phased by the fact I'm down so bad rn. I actually think it's hilarious■■■. I see that ive lost thousands and just laugh about it■. The SHFs desperation is the funniest shit I've ever seen. I literally send screenshots to my friends and brag about how much I'm down. They all say I need to cut my loses and sell but those who are actually INFORMED know the price is going to go right back up soon. This is why the hedge funds will never win. Other investors would be upset, wishing they didn't invest, and hoping for the price to rebound just so they can break even. But nah. Not us GME apes. We are just too retarded to lose. I especially am extremely retarded. Cant wait to buy in the $400s.
