Hello Apes, first a disclaimer. I myself don't see myself as an ape I have few shares and if it moons then it's a win for me.

However just wanted to let you guys know this dip has introduced what you guys would call paper hands. I know several people who have bought GME during the 110-90 price range. And they are here just for the short game and not the "short squeeze". A lot of them will sell during the 190-220 range.

I'm just a messenger.
