So, I have a computershare account that I got with GME giveashare. Super. I was hoping to be able to either buy direct, or have a way around the $300 fee that we have up here once I had the CS account. Turns out not really.

Is there a way to get a fudality account without a US address? Maybe funding with a Wise account? That's the only way I can think of. Get that fudality account, fill it with cash through wise, buy shares through IEX and transfer to CS without paying $300 each time.
