Dear Apes,

Here is my strategy as we celebrate today, Wednesday 9th feb, another exchange receipt date.

1. If over the next weeks the share price goes up, for example to 200 or 300 or 500 dollars per share, I am holding
2. If over the next weeks the share price goes down, for example to 100 or 90 or 80 dollars per share, I am buying more
3. If over the next weeks the share price goes sideways and stays around 100 to 120 dollars per share, I am playing Far Cry New Dawn and then I will purchase Far Cry 6 (despite the storyline being very Far Fetched).
4. I wish there was GameStop in the U.K. There isn't, and the app doesn't even work here. (Ryan, please buy CEX if possible, and cheer the staff up, and try to get them from being so anti Apple products). I would have purchased some £140 AirPods the other day if they hadn't scowled so much and told me they were bad value. They're not bad value. I've had 4 pairs of cheaper in ear earphones and they are NOT as good.
5. I like the stock. Very much. It has been incredible being a part of this so far and may the story continue for a lifetime.
6. Please can everyone stop eating ramen. It's incredibly bad for you. Apes need to live long happy lives to enjoy their gaming and their tendies so please cut out sugar and complex carbs.

Thank you
