Sorry, first post so I think I messed up my previous attempt. 2nd try...

I recently created an LLC brokerage account through Vanguard. Although I have an individual brokerage account with them, it only has a tiny bit of my capital. I mainly do most of my brokerage interaction through Fidelity (which I then DRS) but I had to create the LLC through Vanguard because Fidelity and TDA wouldn't let me create the LLC brokerage account(long story). So once everything settled I bought a large (for me) position in GME and then Vanguard tells me they do not support DRS and I have to transfer to another broker. Has anyone else experienced this or is this shenanigans due to the XXXX DRS GME request?
