

Title: Main Street Media really does believe the average person is an idiot.

Author: the-doctor-is-real

Created 2022-05-11 02:53:27 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/umzs1z/main_street_media_really_does_believe_the_average/

Url:

https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/umzs1z/main_street_media_really_does_believe_the_average/

Yeah, there's the old George Carlin clip about it,

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WDUIX2-akuQ>

but that is not what I mean...

From the start of the Stock Market til now, has there ever been such a push to get people to sell a stock (GME)? Why are they trying to act "so concerned for the retail investor" ?

There have been "buy this" or "this is going places" or whatever, to make people buy in and be bag holders...but getting people to sell?

Reminds me of the scene from Starship Troopers (only replace "it's" with "they're")

https://youtu.be/o4l_4i0_LeU?t=62

This is not financial advice. I buy, I hold, I like to move it move it.