My bullish case for GME. The option chain is bullish. 65% of the float is locked in; no other meme stock comes anywhere near. Over 30% of the float still sold short, anything over 20% short leads to a really tight hug that makes it hard to breathe, (reminder over 65% locked and over 30% shorted) Option chain- 2 weeks where the maximum pain has been applied. Bears have not had any breathing room. Any and all pullbacks, were not enough to cover, in other words, even if every single share was bought by a short on a pullback, they still have millions of shares to buy back. Crayon eating apes like me are still buying and WE ARE PLANNING TO NOT FUCKING SELL UNTIL WE HIT A NEW ALL TIME HIGH. Some of you saw that GME climbed for 10 consecutive trading days and said, I am going to make some quick cash on the pullback; FUCK YOU, I am keeping your money too.
