

Title: The psychology behind a lower price per share is SO powerful - incoming FOMO

Author: CarlosHarryO

Created 2022-07-22 07:41:00 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/w54izg/the_psychology_behind_a_lower_price_per_share_is/

Url:

https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/w54izg/the_psychology_behind_a_lower_price_per_share_is/

So I have a modest amount of gme shares and I have to confess, Ive been on the sidelines just holding for about a month or so, unable to justify right now that I cant part with 130+ quid (British holder here) for only one share, but Ive got such a buzz this morning that I can increase my share holding.

We're all gamers here and I genuinely believe if you're like me you treat shares like XP. Its the most retarded way to think really, but most of the time Im not even concerned with the price but increasing my share count so I have X amount of XP (or shares in this analogy). Easy to see I probably dont have a future as a pro trader ■

My point is ... that as someone who has only been holding for a month or so instead of actively increasing, can't wait to increase my 'XP' today and I reckon this is going to be true for many, MANY people today ... bring it on, lets fucking go!