

Title: Let's take action. Who do we write and what do we say? Do we write the SEC? The DOJ? Congress? Gamestop?

So yea, I think we need to start emailing or phoning people and demanding action to clean up this broken system. It is obvious this market drop is most likely due to the corrupt shorts liquidating to continue their attacks instead of close their positions. They refuse to admit they lost and in the process are taking the entire system down with them.

So what do we do? I'm a pretty smooth brained ape on here and I would love for people in the comments to post links and contact information for who we should complain to. We also need well written letters showing the obvious market manipulation. Unfortunately I know just enough about the market to be dangerous ■ so anything I write will not be taken seriously.

We need sauce to go with our claims of manipulation.

If anyone has ideas of what to write and who to send it to, post in the comments below.

Thanks frens and fellow apes. ■■

I'm not sure about all of you but I feel this could definitely be the dip before the rip...
