So with GME shareholder meeting swiftly approaching. I have a last minute question about the difference between Book and plan holdings. DRSGame.org does not talk about this, so I thought I would ask some wrinkle brain apes.

Since CS isn't a broker, and uses ML for broker transactions. Does that mean that your plan holdings account is technically in street name with ML? Is it essential to get your plan holdings booked before the dates to be announced?

I have my last CS purchase order in which should settle 6/3 so I'm trying to figure out how much urgency I need to be in booking these by next week.

Thanks for the preflight checklist help!! If this has already been answered already I apologize for asking again. I searched but couldn't find what I was looking for.
