Hello fellow GME ladies and gents. One concern I've had is brokers force selling shares prior to the legit M.O.A.S.S. I've heard apes say that if it were to happen, it would negate the M.O.A.S.S theory entirely! For starters, why would forced selling from brokerages against their clients wishes negate the M.O.A.S.S theory? Is it possible that they might force sell at 1000$, which would cause a significant price drop, before flying to andromeda? If so, wouldn't having the infinity pool still guarantee the M.O.A.S.S since they still have to buy back all shares, including the real ones from the original/newly expanded float post split dividend? As a disclaimer, I'm not inviting any strife here, just a friendly discussion about theories you all may have. Cheers!
