Do any of you use Webull on desktop/laptop? I only use it for charting. I don't have an account there anymore. But if you have it pulled up, hit the refresh button while looking at the prices. I have about 4 stocks I am in heavy with right now...one being gme. (Although I am DRSED). But if you hit refresh, you will see (for a split second) all of your stock prices go higher for split second THEN REAL QUICK it changes to current price. Does anyone know why?

For example: current price of gme is EXACTLY $108 when typing this. If I refresh it, it shows $128 for half a second.

MMAT-currently $1.6....if refreshed it is $1.95 then back to normal.

Theatre stock -$16.05....if refreshed it is $19.69 then goes RIGHT back to $16.05.

Why? So strange!!!!
