

Title: How bad is the Chinese housing market? This is how bad... Some developers are now accepting wheat, garlic, and peaches as down payments for properties as the market slumps and bond defaults mount.

Author: BlueCoastDoge

Created 2022-07-04 17:04:53 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/vrc36o/how_bad_is_the_chinese_housing_market_this_is_how/

Url:

https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/vrc36o/how_bad_is_the_chinese_housing_market_this_is_how/

Tick! Tock! ...my fellow Apes.

When I read shit like this, I say to myself that we are either living in the Matrix or we are damn close to this ~~fraudulent financial market~~ global Ponzi-Scheme finally coming to its end in hell-of-a BIG boom.

<https://www.businessinsider.com/china-developers-accepting-wheat-garlic-farmer-down-payments-homes-2022-7>

The contagion from this shit show will surely make life very difficult for a lot of EU & North American financial institutions. Just another drop in the global financial bucket to push everything over the edge. More fuel for GME to start its climb to the stars.