Let me start by saying .. I don't know shit about fuck when it comes to reading charts and options and all that horseshit.

What I do know is that GME ran up over $40 in after hours last night and it wasn't because of some fake ass article that somehow came out after the run started.

They seriously want us to believe that was some FOMO based on information we've known about for months. On top of that, they want us to believe that all of that FOMO then sold off today for absolutely no reason. I mean, they could have at least put out a negative story to try and justify it or ran Jim Creamer out there to tell us we're crazy and need to sell. I don't know who had to do what to cover some shit by some date ... FTDs? some options bullshit? maybe .. I don't know and I don't give a shit. It's obvious they are going to get fukt and I'll be there holding my XXXX shares waiting for them.

I'm a straight up tard so don't take any of this as financial advice. Hell, you all knew all this shit already, it's been discussed all over the place. I just needed to put in words for some reason
