

Title: "How do you stay so Zen?"

Author: OverTheHedgies

Created 2022-08-09 17:15:30 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/wk8xea/how_do_you_stay_so_zen/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/wk8xea/how_do_you_stay_so_zen/

I run a small chat group of people that have bought GME or AM C shares. The goal was to make them bulletproof to FUD, but I have a few people that still let doubt enter their minds, so I have to talk them down off the ledge once in a while.

When asked why I am so Zen about this, here's my case:

- 1.) I know the short interest was 226% in Jan 2021, and that they turned off the buy button.
- 2.) I know the price was $4 in August of 2020, and that they need it to be $0 to win, and that there is no path to those numbers.
- 3.) I know that the $40 price is THEM moving it (not me). They need it to be $0, so if it's $40...someone big needs $40 (they're not doing it for me...and $40-> $160 ...from $4)
- 4.) I know on any given day, the MSM writes a dozen articles calling me stupid for owning GME, but never said a bad word about Netflix falling from $700 to $200.
- 5.) I know every day, some random, bullshit ticker like HKD or MEGL will jack up to some ridiculous $$$ amount for "reasons" and nobody in the MSM bats an eye... and they blame us for the movement.
- 6.)* I know that I have to get up in the morning, make coffee, water the garden, and pick tomatoes before they split or fall off. I'll check prices when the market opens, RRP at 1:16PM, and the Fed taper on Thursdays... but I don't have to do anything else. I'm on autopilot. I'm not turning things off and on, pumping or dumping anything, or making GME rise or fall.

I'm Zen. I just need to wait, and it happens when it happens...