

Title: Freetrade UK Apes, its not all doom just yet. If its a forced stock dividends they can support it but if its ELECTIVE they cannot i.e if the recipient can choose between cash or stock then it will default to cash.

Here's some clarification: Freetrade can support where a stock split is being implemented in the form of a stock dividend (i.e. a mandatory event where the dividend is paid as stock to everyone). What we can't support currently are cash dividends where customers have the option to elect to take them as stock. When there is official confirmation from Gamestop on this event, we'll be able to provide further details.
