

Title: [Request] Does anyone remember the post that had order info down to 4 decimal places?

Author: 2600_yay

Created 2021-12-02 22:18:23 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/r7ivgl/request_does_anyone_remember_the_post_that_had/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/r7ivgl/request_does_anyone_remember_the_post_th_at_had/

I'm not sure in which subreddit I found it, but there was a post some weeks (months?) ago that outlined what market maker signals are (three or four digit codes if my memory serves me right) that MM will use to tell to other MM's "hold the price" or something like that. It has to do with Level II trading info, if my memory serves me correctly.

Sorry for the [Request] post here as it's kind of a 'low information' post. I'm a low-karma / lurker who can't post in the larger subreddits. Thanks in advance for any help!

Edit: Edited post to reflect the question more clearly. I'd gotten two ideas mixed up in my initial post. It looks like the topic that I was curious about is called - generally - 'market maker signals'.