I was thinking.

Some time ago someone posted about talking to some broker employee and was told that HFs will make massive attack and do not care about not delivering, number of gme synthetics etc.

We consider them amoral, unethical, corrupted. Greed is their motor.

Now.

I see no reason for them not to end this long time ago. Why take the risk.

The only reason i can see is because they cannot. If they could - they would.

I think this is more like Mayo said once: they fight each day to live till tomorrow.

Also it is past midnight so this can be stupid :)
