I'll be honest, GME really wasn't on my radar as a place of employment for a software engineer prior to the Reddit vs Hedge Fund saga.

Outside of writing code for companies, I enjoy learning about stocks (and new crypto projects). Just like us retail investors are the little guys, I feel like contributing on turning GME around vs. working at a big tech is a direct opportunity to put my skillset to work for good!

Anyways, just sharing my excitement in the initial opportunity! Wish me luck ■
