Let's keep the topic short, simple and fun. What are your predictions post earnings?

Let's have some fun and hopefully replies that'll age like wine and milk.

I think it'll move up. I was thinking along what rab talked about earlier about price moving down and becoming more accessible for mainstream fomo and agree there.

People "know" we ran to the 400s previously and might jump in at this level for quick gains/fomo.

As to how far it'll go, no idea. I've seen max thresholds been thrown around previously but I'm not sure I believe it. It was a time where it was some serious anchoring for thresholds so I'm cautious.
