It has always been my opinion that DRS was a campaign to move shares out of the brokerages specifically to lessen their margin requirements.

% of float moved = % of margin requirement removed.

Know your role.

Which game are you playing.

Kens? Or Cohens?

Unpopular Opinion : We are getting absolutely fucked and RC needs to do something about it.

 Discussion / Question

It is not our job to take care of the stock and shake the illegal shorts by DRSing (even if it is the way), but it's GameStop's

It's been a year now, and hedgies are clearly fucking us right in the butt.

They had all the time they needed to create a crypto/NFT dividend, wtf are they waiting for?

The government is going to bail out the SHFs and the price is going to plummet.

 Fluff

I am down $12,000 you fuckers.

The price is not going to go back up because you guys gave the SHFs enough time to get money to cover and get the government to cover the rest.

It's fucking bullshit.

I trusted all of you and now I am down over $12,000.

I'm not selling, but what good does that fucking do?

GME needs to get to 200 before I can break even.

Prove that it will do that.

Prove it.

If DRS is working why the fuck is the price going to be below 100 soon?

You fucking assholes. This is my money I worked hard for.

And don't say "Oh you shouldn't risk what you're not willing to lose."

THIS WAS A SURE FIRE THING.

YOU ALL BELIEVE IT.

Literally going to lose $30,000.....

Jesus fuck

Gen Z investors shift focus from 'meme-stocks' to the 'metaverse,' report shows

BY REUTERS — 9:22 AM ET

By John McCrank

NEW YORK (Reuters) - Enthusiasm around "meme stocks" has eased for young investors a year on from the GameStop Corp (GME) trading frenzy, with Gen Z's attention shifting to companies in areas like electric vehicles and the "metaverse," according to a report released on Friday.

The top stock holding among the Gen Z cohort - people born after 1996 - in the fourth quarter was Tesla Inc (TSLA), according to the quarterly investor outlook from Apex Fintech Solutions, which provides custody and clearing services for brokers like SoFi, Stash, WeBull, and Goldman Sachs Group's (GS) Marcus.

AMC Entertainment (AMC) slipped from the No. 1 spot in the top 100 ranking of stocks for the first time in several quarters, to No. 3, said the report, which analyzed more than 1 million Gen Z accounts held by Apex's clearing arm.

GameStop (GME), which retail investors piled in to last January in a social media-fueled attempt to punish short sellers, dropped five spots to No. 11, the report showed. Meme stocks with less mainstream buzz fell more, with e-commerce platform Wish's owner, ContextLogic, down 35 spots at No. 56 and biopharmaceutical company Ocugen Inc dropping 41 spots to No. 91.

Electric vehicle startup Rivian Automotive Inc, which went public in November, debuted at No. 44, while Chinese EV maker NIO held the No. 8 spot

I have to admit, this dip makes me nervous

Shitpost

These past few weeks have not been easy at all. I know that the price is fake and I know that there is no reason to be nervous but i kind of am restless.

I tried to resist this urge, I really am but I can not promise how long I contain my urge to ducking FOMO FOR EVEN MORE GOLDEN TICKETS TO OLYMP.

HAHAHAHA I wouldn't want to be in your skin, Kenny boy, Bearer of shorts, born under the name of Kenneth C. Griffin, "collector of arts" my hairy ape ass and owner of Citadel LLC.
