Short interest dropped from 20+% to 5% over the weekend. The same day our subs were filled with news about the splivend being handled incorrectly. Are shills trying to distract us from the real issue here? We all just received 3x fake shares. DRS them and they will now be real shares plain and simple, end of conversation. But SI at 5%....how are we going to the moon if hedgies just removed themselves from the stock? GME ■ ■. Not spreading FUD but I think this is the real issue here.
