My mother-in-law just informed my wife and I of some behind the scenes information that seems like the fed really does not care about the common apes of Gmerica. She works as a banker at PNC Bank Ohio. Mortgage processing has come to a screeching halt there as well and her co-worker's husband works in the energy sector. According to the here say, Ohio gas prices are goin to hit $7 (already at $5 as of this week) and California's will reach $10 (currently on the cusp of $7 in many areas). Seems like things are going to get much worse before we get to see GME MO ASS. But hey, what do I know? I just like the stonk!
