

Title: Major flaw in the new options narrative

Author: xupwup

Created 2022-01-09 08:54:26 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rzngvk/major_flaw_in_the_new_options_narrative/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/rzngvk/major\_flaw\_in\_the\_new\_options\_narrative/

This weekend everyone has been promoting buying gme call options, because the hedgies would have to buy the stock immediately when the call option is exercised, or in advance to hedge against the possibility of it being exercised. Now this sounds like bs to me, because the rest of the year has been all about the abuse of synthetic shares. So why would call options need hedging at all? Couldn't they just print a bunch of synthetics when an option is exercised?

It all sounds like the shills are trying to get us to play the options casino for no good reason. People seem to still have way too much faith in the market.