

Title: My take on why RC sold all his Bath shares (hint: so he doesn't get tagged with insider trading)

Author: TheUltimator5

Created 2022-08-18 23:51:16 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/wryqbu/my_take_on_why_rc_sold_all_his_bath_shares_hint/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/wryqbu/my\_take\_on\_why\_rc\_sold\_all\_his\_bath\_shares\_hint/

Since the sale of all the bath shares are the talk of the night, I figured it would be nice to look at it from a potential point of view that RC might have and why the current run may have been triggered.

As you all may remember, RC revealed that he purchased $150 Million worth of bath shares on or around March 7, 2022 and a bunch of deep out of the money calls. There was small price movement, but nothing close to what has been going on for the past 2ish weeks. Why now, and why is the media talking like he just disclosed the position a couple days ago?

RC sent a letter to bath a couple months ago talking about potentially selling their BABY business to pay off debt.

<https://preview.redd.it/8rpowopa4ki91.png?width=1170&format=png&auto=webp&s=1ec39f3f6196c5fb5c068b43c855a4f58e0402f4>

I theorize that RC decided to acquire BABY after he ousted the corrupt board members. The one problem with acquiring BABY was that he owns a ton of shares. If he owns shares in bath before he acquires BABY from them, it could be considered insider trading and he would be immediately get the entire book thrown at him since everyone and anyone (in the wall street and media world) wants to see him behind bars. He needs to do it completely by the books.

If Gamestop acquires BABY, it would be huge for the brand since baby toys, books and clothing are a massive seller if done correctly (*I know this because of how much my wife spends on our baby*). It would also eliminate bath's debt issues, so everyone wins.

Over the past week or two, somebody must have been tipped off about this potential acquisition and must have known that he needs to sell all of his stock before making any move. The media and wall street knows that RC needs to do everything by the regulations and submit filings and will not risk anything illegal with this move. They then used it as huge opportunity for a pump and dump as well as a way to slander his name over and over in an effort to get retail traders to turn against him. If their tips give a date range, they then have a date range that he would need to sell his shares and can pump and dump accordingly. If they pump up the stock, it is more of a reason for RC to unload his shares that he already had to completely sell anyways for an acquisition to take place, then they can use all their standard short and distort techniques to leave retail holding the bag and angry at RC for doing this to them.

If you haven't seen already, bath sent out a letter last night vaguely alluding to what is to come:

<https://preview.redd.it/ibd92msy5ki91.png?width=1284&format=png&auto=webp&s=ff7a9e8f18f574726ba5686b083adf7f17487f2e>

I guess we will have to wait until the end of the month to see what is really going on, but this is my take on the situation.

I am excited to see what he could do with an online baby one-stop-shop.