not only his shoutout to me and the DRSGME.org website on his live stream last night, but also for his incredibly energetic, humorous, entertaining, and GME-, DRS-, and gaming-related content. If I would know how to do live streaming, that is exactly how I would aspire to do it. A+++!! He has brought educational knowledge of DRS and now DRSGME.org to his 17,500 loyal subscribers of which I am proudly monetarily supporting.

If you haven't ever watched, please see the first hour of last night's stream!

CLW, I hope you'll thoroughly check out the website in detail and we would very much love to hear any suggestions or feedback you may have for us in general or about our advertising plans. We're running paid ads to educate the masses outside of Reddit about DRS and the fact that GameStop is no longer a dying brick and mortar video game store. Cheers! And thank you for who you are!
