When I called CS today and last week, both agents emphasized how important it was to fill out the tax form. Because blah blah blah and in the event of a dividend ... I didn't DRS other non-GME shares so I don't know if it is standard script for them or not to mention the possibility of a dividend

Edit: the form is W8BEN

"If you are a certified resident of Canada, a W-8BEN form allows you to make a claim (a tax treaty benefit) for a reduction on the tax withheld from U.S. income you may receive in your account. This covers dividends from U.S. companies or interest income from U.S. fixed-income investments"
