Could the small wee wee tweets in the past be related to the low gas fees GME will charge for their service, based in Loopring L2?

In the meantime it is officially that Gamestop will use Loopring L2, but when he tweeted it the first time, I could imagine he want to give us a hint.

But of course this discussion is so unimportant.

If this was already discussed, so please, feel free, throw me in tar and roll me in feather.
