Hi guys, let me start by saying that I bought a couple of GME stocks at the beginning of this fxckery and I haven't been on track since then. I have never did the "computer share" thing, only thing I know that I woke up with a -66% percent on my portfolio because I still have the same number of stocks before the split (I didn't even know the shares were going to be split). What should I do now? How do I bring my shares to Computershare? Thanks for the help
