

Title: GME was tracking with FTXD during the BBBY run

Author: JonZ82

Created 2021-11-06 09:52:25 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/qnx3wz/gme_was_tracking_with_ftxd_during_the_bbbby_run/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/qnx3wz/gme_was_tracking_with_ftxd_during_the_bbbby_run/

<https://www.marketwatch.com/investing/fund/FTXD>

And I'm not sure why, but it's chart stopped Friday early morning right about when GME tanked. I'm guessing someone was short this, which has BBBY exposure and had to cover when it shot up. I don't know how this all ties into anything, my brain is too smooth for that, but maybe someone with a couple wrinkles can piece it together. This ETF is SUUUUPER low cap it's ridiculous, but holds a lot of the meme stocks.

Edit: Another interesting point is April 6th through the 9th FTXD had a huge spike in volume, since it barely breaks couple thousand daily having 416k is insane.. right as GME ended it's run up.

edit: Full list of their holdings, BBBY is down there

<https://www.ftportfolios.com/Retail/Etf/EtfHoldings.aspx?Ticker=FTXD>

List of tickers I've found that all tracked.

<https://www.marketwatch.com/investing/stock/cvs>

<https://www.marketwatch.com/investing/stock/wsm>

<https://www.marketwatch.com/investing/stock/kr>

<https://www.marketwatch.com/investing/stock/cost> Costco had a bit of a jump AH Tuesday.

<https://www.marketwatch.com/investing/stock/olli>

Weird ass retailers I've never heard of.