I don't have the k points for super stonk, but if anyone knows what the pocket report is, they have everyone send pens to the white house to get them to sign a bill about student loans. Completely flooded them with pens, it was in the news etc.

Not here for that, but it got me thinking.. we should be annoying at this point. Why not? Coordinated mailing in of our GME purple rings to the SEC, white house, etc. Make it so annoying they have to do something even if its just report on it. Its totally harmless in theory. A regular harry potter mail situation. It would cost almost nothing to be a total bother.
