Hello my dear apes, I wanted to share with you a new collection of NFTs I minted on Gamestop's marketplace. A few days ago I was accepted as a content creator for Gamestop's NFT marketplace and I created an alt account to start minting with.

Obviously, I couldn't help myself but to shitpost whale teeth memes on the platform so lo and behold the WT4M collection that I minted last night:

All of the original sales of each NFT in this collection will be donated to the Sea Shepherd Conservation Society. Luckily they accept blockchain donations so donating the ETH raised will be incredibly easy for me to do and all transactions to their wallet is fully transparent. I will likely later today be making the first donation of ETH.

There are some things I want to be clear about, and this goes for all the content creators. Gamestop wants us to be sharing our collections on our main social platforms, so please be kind or understanding of this if content creators are sharing and talking about their work.

For me, I want to tread lightly on the 'self-promotion' thing, but I also noticed that there had been some collections minted to specifically cater to the ape community so I wanted to get ahead and publish a whale teeth collection myself before someone else did so that I could ensure a fair price, enough editions, and accessibility for all apes, and finally I wanted to ensure that all of the profits from the collection go directly to helping our whale friends.

WT4M!!
