

Title: MOASS: Debunking "Name Your Price"

Author: Spared-No-Expense

Created 2021-09-23 16:19:47 UTC

Permalink: /r/DDintoGME/comments/ptyrkx/moass_debunking_name_your_price/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/DDintoGME/comments/ptyrkx/moass_debunking_name_your_price/

Not trying to spread FUD here, but if its true that after 61M retail shares are locked up into CS and Gamestop does its thing, that EVERY synthetic share must be bought back, then the theory goes that you set the price. My only issue with this is that there are greater than 0 amount of GME shares in brokerage accounts of dead people. So, if EVERY share needed to be dissolved, then how do they access those shares?

Either A:

There is a mechanism for forcing sales from inactive brokerage accounts, IE, there is a mechanism for forcing sales PERIOD. This is dangerous for obvious reasons, but the end result is that you cannot "name your price"

or B:

If forced selling isn't allowed, then they don't NEED to remove every synthetic from the system in order for the MOASS to peak and fall.... the implication of this is that you do NOT get to "name your price".

C. The only situation in which you would be able to "name your price" is if BOTH forced sales are impossible, even for dead people, AND they absolutely must remove every synthetic from the system... but because dead people can't be the reason the MOASS never ends and the price goes up indefinitely, I think C is highly improbable.

Thoughts?