As wealth simple stated that the record date for gme shares was on the 8th of April. They followed up by not allowing people to drs shares on the 5th of April till the 11th.

In order to receive the stock dividend, if it were to happen. Would I not be eligible to receive those shares since I was not a holder prior to the record date?

Would like to know as I'm genuinely curious as to what would happen if I were to buy additional shares. Would I still receive the dividend or not?
