Email from one of my Brokers in USA..... "To address your question directly, the new GME shares originated from the shares in your account. There was no official transfer of assets, or anything of that nature. GameStop decided to do a 4-for-1 Forward Split, providing you with 4x the amount of shares you originally held. You will see that 30 shares were 'added' to your account on 7/22, but the 10 shares you originally held simply split to account for the 4-for-1 parameters."
