As the title states. Moderators have been infiltrated and they are steering the community to failure or into a honeypot type of situation. Same thing over at WSB. This one most likely is as well but there's a better chance for legible non propaganda information here. If you disagree you are paid for. If you disagree you have obviously not studied propaganda. If you downvote this without commenting, you're part of the issue. It's time to get effing serious with this. No memes, no jokes. The other side certainly is taking it seriously which shows how much of the right path we are on. We are winning and they are terrified. GME, BBBY, KOSS, other swap stocks should be discussed. Moderators should prove they are not paid for. Propaganda should be the main focus of everyone who reads through this.
