Seeing some posts about the new DRSGME.org ads being spotted in the wild, so here's a reminder/info for everyone:

DO NOT CLICK ON THOSE ADS TO SEE IF THEY WORK!

Most ads on Facebook, Instagram, news feeds, dildo shops, porn sites, smart fridges etc. are pay-per-click based ads.

Wut mean?

Basically, pay-per-click ads have a certain amount of paid money, or balance if you will. This balance (paid by our lovely folks over at DRSGME from their piggy banks and donations) depletes every time someone clicks on the ad, because it is seen as a "successful" targeted advertisement towards someone. The cost can be anywhere from cents to dollars per click, depending on many factors.

This community, and SupraStónk are already well versed in DRS process and know of the importance of the purple cock rings. YOU are also one of the loudest people to talk about GME out loud, and that's why youe little listener devices are picking up keywords like "stonks, GameStop, DRS, finance, not advice" and so are targeting those ads also for you.

Anyone wanting easy reddit points should also post this PSA on SyperStónk subreddit, this poor ape has not enough garma...

Just pwease tag me in it :3 Dank you love you byeeee!
