

Title: Organic price target for GME

Author: uranusdrips

Created 2022-01-06 14:41:59 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rxg55q/organic_price_target_for_gme/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/rxg55q/organic_price_target_for_gme/

I usually don't post threads like this one but here we go. I'm really interested in knowing where y'all see the price target of GME for the next 2-5 years if no MOASS occurs (not saying it won't happen I'm a believer) because some people in my family would like to invest but they don't really buy the whole MOASS possibility. I know there's some DD by GMEDD stating the price to go to $1069 but i really think that's on the low end of what's possible and doesn't reflect the possibilities of NFTS and an entire ecosystem by Gamestop. NFTS are set to 1000x to about $370 billion this decade and some analysts say that they'll be even bigger than BTC. Opensea has got a 97% market share with a pretty bad infrastructure if we're being honest. If Gamestop claims even 50% of that it would put GME at around $2500 per share-> remember this could be from NFTs alone not taking into consideration the other markets RC wants to tap in and niches like gaming where Gamestop already made a name for themselves. In my personal opinion GME could very well reach a price of minimum $5k or even higher organically in the next 5 years if RC and the board pulls off the transformation all of us are anticipating.

I'm sorry for the low quality of this post and I know some of this is just dubious speculation but it would really interesting to read some other opinions about this!

Links to the sources are in the comments