What if RC is letting us know that he'd love to invest more of his hard earned cash into his favorite stock however he now has actual confirmation/ proof that there are no shares left. At this point, knowing for a fact that he would be willfully purchasing fake shares, might that be considered a form of manipulation? Perhaps with No more shares of GME available, he was forced to move onto his second choice investment. Thoughts?

This is of course speculation. To me, makes sense.

Cheers and happy weekend you beautiful Apes! Get some rest, we're all hoping for a big week.
