I've been lurking for a long time and I am finally getting my shares counted to get the most accurate data. Here are my 210 shares. I'll be coming back in for more when I see the price finding legit resistance somewhere below $100. I'd love to be a 4x holder!

Word count has to be more so I'll just say... I love my job and make very good money. I'm in this for the investment, I believe it has the chance to create some pretty serious change in the markets (potentially society) and this community. I read and laugh at everything. Keep it up no matter how overhyped or dumb the post.... That's what I come here to experience!
