Is_self: False

This is a re-post of the original which was censored. I added the link about Trump meeting with the bankers since it made sense to include.

I am posting this here since the original post that inspired me is getting vote fked like crazy. The OP is very cryptic, but surprisingly credible (and dedicated!). I want to be clear - I did not come to this conclusion JUST from the OP, however, they were very helpful in helping me see the larger picture. CRITICIZE EVERYTHING. THIS IS A FINANCIAL WAR.

So my tin foil hat is getting pretty heavy - but I think the 1% made an investment with Ken to fund the stimulus last year (remember that hiccup with the first stimulus check?) and how much was it, A HISTORIC $2 trillion

<https://www.nytimes.com/2020/04/15/business/coronavirus-stimulus-money.html>

"The central bank said it would basically buy an unlimited amount of Treasury bonds and government-backed mortgage bonds — whatever was necessary “to support smooth market functioning.”"

And it is known that Trump met with bankers and wall street to discuss the stimulus in March 2020.

<https://thehill.com/policy/finance/487087-trump-to-huddle-with-bankers-on-coronavirus-economic-relief>

"Trump huddled with several of the CEOs of the biggest American commercial and investment banks Wednesday, including Michael Corbat of Citigroup, Bryan Moynihan of Bank of America, Charles Scharf of Wells Fargo, David Solomon of Goldman Sachs, Gordon Smith, co-president of JPMorgan Chase, American Bankers Association President Rob Nichols, Consumer Bankers Association President Richard Hunt, Independent Community Bankers of America President Rebeca Romero Rainey, Stephen Schwartzman, CEO of investment firm BlackStone; Ken Griffin, chief executive of hedge fund Citadel; Truist Financial chief executive Kelly King; and US Bancorp chief executive Andrew Cecere, Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin, White House economic adviser Larry Kudlow, senior adviser Jared Kushner and Small Business Administration chief Jovita Caranza. "

So, Ken then promised ■ fat returns from his (fraudulent!) money machine in exchange for their cash $$ to fix the US liquidity issue and issue the stimulus. Ken and his investors get paid, the people get their stimulus, and the money comes from the money machine. Everybody wins. If things go wrong, Trump just orchestrates another stimulus and they do it again. Infinite liquidity. Ken fixed the "liquidity" problem.

(fraudulent!) money machine = (synthetic shares - resetting the FTDs on these until those companies go bankrupt - shorting 10yr treasuries, Ken's personal absurd real estate, +blackrock?)

I BELIEVE THERE IS A HUGE REAL ESTATE PIECE THAT APES ARE MISSING. HOW WOULD THE 1% LEVERAGE REAL ESTATE?

Maybe the people in the background of this video?

<https://bit.ly/3uELVL4> I do not know them all, but I love Trump's last line, "And that's what this is all about." We'll see how that ages..

I am also thinking that there is a CRYPTO part of this puzzle that we are missing. Why the f did Dogecoin come into this picture?

So, where were we...right the problem. The problem is that the companies didn't die (I like the stock!) and Trump didn't get re-elected (ouch). Biden has openly tweeted against Wallstreet (and sounds hella cryptic considering this situation) <https://twitter.com/POTUS/status/1379148484415217666>

So, no-go for government liquidity. Now, these investors are pretty mad because Ken cannot deliver on a ton of money ($2 trillion, in fact) and they are basically the whales that we have noticed in the larger picture. One could argue that these whales had a pretty big incentive to START the larger picture.

So, why the countdown? Well today is roughly 360 days from when the stimulus checks first started to arrive in apes bank accounts

And the liquidity issues were blaring

I believe they were supposed to be paid back today, or extend it another year if the President agreed (so basically, Ken betted on Trump winning and SHORTED the 1%) if so, fking nads on this guy - you are first-class stupid

I am curious what this financial obligation to the 1% would look like between them and Citadel. A bond note? Did he pull it out of the equity of the 1%'s and his real estate? I assume they didn't have this much cash laying around. Where did $2 trillion come from in a just a few weeks..?

There are a LOT of hints from the OPs previous post and comments. Thank you for letting us fight! Even though if I am right, you are just as guilty of fraud (bcs - c'mon, you knew), but, this is not possible without you! So, if you win, we win, and the world keeps spinning. (I'm throwing a lot of $hit here so any feedback is appreciated :)

tl;dr - the upper class is fighting and apes are happy to play along. Thank you ■■■ for using us to get your $$$ back! I'm going to enjoy Ken's money as much as you'll enjoy watching him fall

PS - if you think there is anything to this, please share a link to this post. Since reddit is heavily censored by bots, it is difficult to get these ideas out there!
