So I'm a bit confused about some of the posts which say that a market crash would be good for us because kenny would be liquidated and they need to cover.

In my tiny ape brain I think that if you short something and the market goes down then its good for you (the shorter). In other words they make lots of bananas in the process.

So in the end, I have all my savings in GME so I hope that I'm wrong and one day I wake up a trillionaire so I can short the shit out of them :))

Have a nice day fellow apes
