minutes! I'm going to pull up your account now.

You are all set! Got the one share of GME transferred over to computershare. The confirmation

Thank you so much!

Type your question here...

Happy to take a look at that for you. I can check to see that we moved out 1 share of GAME. This should just take a few minutes.

Okay thank you!

You can call computer share to double check if you would like but I do not see history of a DRS taking place. Did you try to process this over the phone?

I did this over fidelity in this chat

Okay, did they confirm that the Direct Register had been completed?

Yes I was given a confirmation number but I need to find the screenshot

Okay, let me take a look at one more thing on my end. Give me a few more minutes.

Ads okay I found the screenshot

the confirmation number is XXXXXXXXXX

Okay thank you

On April 1st,

I see that you bought some GME shares on April 1st.

Is there a way to upload the screenshot?

It says "You are all set! Got one share of GME transferred over to computershare"

It looks like the DRS was submitted as a future transfer request. It is submitted this way when you have unsettled orders on the account. We cannot DRS anything to computer share if there is an unsettled order, so we enter it as a future transfer and it is usually completed within a few days, once there is no pending activity. In this case the future transfer for the 1 share of GJJE was canceled. Possibly due to activity in the account. If you would like, I could process the DRS now.

Don't I have unsettled orders now too?

Let me take a look.

Yes, you have a buy order for GME. Once all of your open orders settle, you can chat us to DRS shares and we can

Can I request to transfer 5 CME shares today instead of 5

I can process a future transfer request, but there is activity in the account. If you process any more trades for any security in the account the transfer will not be completed. In order for the transfer to go through, there needs to be no activity in the account.
