I struggle with this myself but I'm contemplating it more and more... what if all subs went quiet for a month or two? The info from the past 7-8 months is good and tickets to the show purchased. What if we simply didn't feed anything anymore for a little bit and sit back and wait for our stock alerts to notify us for big changes?

It's hard to think about not coming here to read up but sometimes to win you just need to let it come to you.
