

Title: Lol. bloomberg, wall st, and, most importantly, Kenny boi are in for one rude awakening.
Author: brrt69
Created 2021-12-26 00:51:24 UTC
Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rolhix/lol_bloomberg_wall_st_and_most_importantly_kenny/
Url: https://www.reddit.com/gallery/rolhix

5:45

bloomberg.com

SHIB TOKEN RAISED AS A JOKE, A PARODY
so-called Dogecoin—which itself started as a parody based on a popular meme featuring a Shiba Inu.

A single SHIB trades for about $0.000037, meaning you could buy a million of them for less than $50.
These “dog coins” have attracted significant attention from retail investors, despite (or perhaps because of) their inherent volatility and tendency to swing wildly in price on the basis of cryptic tweets from Elon Musk.

The crossover between digital assets and the real world isn't limited to animals or athletes. Not even the U.S. Constitution is safe from digital disruption.
Over the course of a week in November, a group of investors raised the equivalent of nearly $50 million to bid on a print of the Constitution that was up for auction at Sotheby's.

The crypto team lost the auction to billionaire hedge fund manager and Bitcoin skeptic Ken Griffin. Perhaps the lesson of 2021, then, is that while crypto talks, fiat still walks.