So I think I got a little carried away with all the GME/NFT excitement. I came across a post that led me to the GameStop NFT Beta website and very swiftly followed the prompts to connect my metamask wallet to the website and sent over a ETH transaction.

Before I knew it I was back on the on the website and realized there was no account under my name or any tab to guide me to an account page that shows my transaction on the network.

Has anyone else looked at the beta site!? Can someone explain to me exactly what I did and where I might be able to access my funds when the market is finally launched.

Clearly I'm a ■ ■ just throwing ■ at anything GME related.
