

Title: Where's the missing volume? From about 1:15 to 1:30, 85,000 shares were borrowed to be sold short (that is just IBKR data alone, no other brokerage or institutional data) yet TOTAL volume according to yahoo finance is 60,589. Ladies and Gentlemen of this supposed jury, THIS DOES NOT MAKE SENSE.

This is possibly DIRECT EVIDENCE of GME short positions being routed through lit exchanges, while buy orders are sent through dark pools.

Here's the IBKR data from stonk-o-tracker. 100,000 shares showed up around 13:16 and 85,000 were borrowed by 13:32 to be sold as a short position

Let's look at that timeframe on yahoo finance

Well, it's obvious to see the borrowed shares were immediately sold and did their intended job of dropping the price during the afternoon rally. We've seen this before. But we should be able to see at least those 85,000 shares as volume during this timeframe, right?

Wrong. Directly from yahoo finance, here's the minute by minute volume as well as the sum.

60,589 shares reported as bought or sold during this timeframe. This should include all stock purchases or shares from longs and shorts, institutional and retail alike. YET THE REPORTED VOLUME IS LOWER THAN JUST THE SHARES REPORTED AS BORROWED ON IBKR ALONE

What happened to all the buy orders during this time period? Magically missing? Routed through dark pools? Shoved under a mattress somewhere? Crushed and snorted like red crayons?

I think it's pretty obvious at this point that....
