

Title: I don't know where to go with this question without getting downvoted to hell. I'm not a shill. I love GME.

Author: MarcLava9014

Created 2022-01-06 21:27:48 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/rxpgch/i_dont_know_where_to_go_with_this_question/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/rxpgch/i_dont_know_where_to_go_with_this_question/

I dont know what I believe in terms of how high this bitch can rip. I know the belief is "we name our price" but there's certain numbers I believe are unrealistic, especially when considering just how many synthetics exist. Let's start with a solid round number of a billion synthetics (if there's DD suggesting less then please share it with me). Even at a million a share, that's a quadrillion dollars. How is that possible? Would/will/could the government step in, shut this down, and force us to settle on a price per share much lower than we'd like? I'm talking 25k, 50k, 100k sorts numbers.

I've had the weight of the world on my shoulders for years and I feel like I'm endlessly stressed and tired. I want to be RICH like everyone else, and I expect I will be when this is all over. The idea of 75 million a share though just seems wacky to me. Help please. GME to the moon ■